Headline:
Dry and bright Monday with sunny spells and becoming warm.

Today:
A chilly start with frost in places, then a dry and bright day with sunny spells and becoming warm, although cooler on North Sea coasts in the chilly wind. Light or moderate southerly winds, but fresher over the east coast. Maximum temperature 16 deg C (61 deg F).

Tonight:
A dry evening with some clear spells but cloud increasing from the west to bring outbreaks of rain, with some heavier rain in west by the end of the night. Minimum temperature 3 deg C (37 deg F).

Tuesday:
Cloudy with outbreaks of rain, possibly heavy at first but rain will gradually fizzle out with drier and brighter conditions developing in afternoon as winds turn northwest. A colder day. Maximum temperature 10 deg C (50 deg F).

Outlook for Wednesday to Friday:
High pressure building across Scotland bringing dry and bright weather with some sunshine. Mainly light winds, but cooler with night frosts and the odd wintry shower possible over northern Aberdeenshire.
